TEXAS AND TEXANS.

By
Will H. Mayes
"All Texans for All Texas"

Beautifying Texas

While industrial, commercial, civic and other organizations are at work unitedly for a "Greater and Better Texas" development, there is no inactivity on the part of those intent on having development of the beautiful green peace with the growth of the state.

The State Park Board is busy acquiring lands and improving public parks in all sections of Texas. City planning and park boards are active everywhere in developing city parks and recreational playgrounds. A law has just been passed authorizing the co-operation of State, county and city or town parks boards in acquiring and establishing parks and playgrounds.

Garden clubs are pushing movements for park and highway beautification and for scattering indigenous Texas flower seed wherever they may be grown. Children are encouraged to study flowers in the public schools. With all these and other agencies co-operating, Texas is fast becoming noted for its beauty.

Bluebonnets in London

Of course a Texas bluebonnet is not a real bluebonnet anywhere else than in Texas, and it must feel much out of place in London, but Mrs. J. K. Beretta of San Antonio, who has interested herself for years in having school children gather native flower seed for more general distribution, especially in Texas, has sent some bluebonnet seed to a London school and in acknowledging them the teacher wrote:

"Had I announced that I was about to read a great English epic which had only recently been found and after which I would distribute gold nuggets I am sure there would not have been more eagerness and happiness shown. Each girl took a few for her own garden and there was plenty left for the very beautiful school garden."

That is better Texas publicity than a carload of wide-brimmed hats and cowboy ropes. Let's show the world the beauties of Texas.

Laudable Texas Program

"Progressive Texans, Inc.," an organization composed largely of Texas manufacturers, is busily raising a half million dollars to be used in advertising Texas-made products and in building up a public sentiment that will cause Texans to give preference to Texas industries. The industrial growth of the State depends largely upon Texas patronage of its established industries. It is inconsistent to expect manufacturers to establish plants in Texas so long as Texans are indifferent to the support of those already in the State. Every Texan should be loyal to every worthy Texas enterprise. "Progressive Texans, Inc.," deserves the attentive consideration of all Texans.

Publisher Gets Big Job

Houston Harte, publisher of the San Angelo Standard and Times, has been elected president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Evidently the West Texas workers have been watching Grady Kinsolving of the Corpus Christi Times, who has proven a "humdinger" as president of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce, and have concluded that a wide-awake newspaper man can do most anything he wants to do. They have found the right man in Houston Harte, who is a wonder-worker at whatever he tries.

Texas Still Leads

Dr. Willis J. Abbot of the Christian Science Monitor, after a recent visit to Texas, said that he heard nobody in Texas complaining of hard times. "There is money enough in Detroit," he said, "to come pretty near buying Texas—if we except the oil belt—but a visitor will hear more complaints of poverty and industrial depression in that city in a day than he will in Texas in a week." He opines that, "the Southwest will lead the return of prosperity and indeed is far on the way to that goal already." Good for Texas and the impression it makes on all observant visitors!

Why Not in Texas?

"The Kentucky Derby" has secured more publicity for Kentucky in the past month than the State gets from all other sources in a year. Incidentally it attracted wealthy visitors from all over the world and they distributed their wealth lavishly among the Kentuckians, without contributing to any noticeable extent to the depletion of the morals of the commonwealth. Texas is a hundred-fold better state for breeding, raising and exhibiting thoroughbred horses than Kentucky. Texans made some showings of horse-flesh both at home and in the East during Derby Week, of which horse-owners were proud. Why not encourage the raising of thoroughbreds in Texas? A horse race is no more sinful or debasing than a ball game. We need to be a little more consistent.

Valuable Dam Sites

A hydro-electric corporation has bought from a development company certain lands and dam sites on the Guadalupe river in Gonzales and Guadalupe counties, including the two dams that are being constructed between Seguin and Gonzales. The consideration was in excess of a million dollars, and shows that hydro-power sites in Texas have come to be things of much value.

Wanted, Mathematician

Perhaps an adding machine would do as well. Oil wells are being started and brought in so fast in East Texas that it is hard to keep count of them. The number reported each week now is around 100, and despite the fact that oil is almost given away the speculative fever keeps up. Lacking enough houses to take care of the crowds and not being able to build them fast enough, tents are being used. The Longview postmaster has had to call on the War Department for tents in which to handle the additional mail, now using 1,200 feet of tent floor space.

Dr. Brooks' Death

Dr. S. P. Brooks, long the president of Baylor University, lived a most useful life, literally living for the good of others—young men and women whom he helped to educate. All Texas reveres his name. Few others have done so much good. He shunned no duty, shirked no task. He loved youth. It is stated that Pat M. Neff, former governor, and closest friend of Dr. Brooks, will take up and carry on the work so long and so well done at Baylor.

Want Better Prices

Fifteen hundred milk producers around LaGrange have met and fixed $1.50 as the lowest price at which they will sell milk to the near-by condensatory, the price now given being $1.35 a hundred pounds. Organization of farming and subsidiary interests are as important as organized industry and commerce. Why shouldn't they fix the prices at which they think they can afford to sell their products, rather than have them set by buyers?

Yes, Can Them

The price of dewberries has fallen to 15 cents a gallon at Giddings, the growers have decided to can them at home, as far as possible. Anybody who has ever tasted them knows that Texas dewberries are worth at least 50 cents a gallon to the eaters, that next winter the canned berries will taste even better than the fresh berries do now, and that they will be just as nourishing.

Pigs, Not Politics

If Governor Sterling had given that registered boar big to farmers at Schulenburg before the election he might have been charged with playing politics, but the gift was recently made and the pig has been placed in the keeping of a supporter of Ferguson. The Governor is a believer in better pigs and more pigs as a farm relief measure.

Poteet Plums

Poteet is a Texas town even though it may sound like something else. Poteet plums are making the town famous. Ripe, red, juicy Poteet plums make those who eat them forget their troubles, and are bringing fine cash returns to those who grow them. Plums can be grown almost anywhere. The farmer who hasn't a few plum trees is missing a great part of living.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK AT YANCEY.

Our school is nearing its close and the usual exercises are being held during this week. The class play entitled "Sonny" was given last Friday night and was well rendered in spite of difficulties that were encountered during the time of preparations for the same. Prof. Stendebach was called away to attend the funeral of an uncle, who died and was buried at Boerne; and Prof. Roensch had a very sick child in a hospital in San Antonio all during the week; but the lady teachers assisted in the program and everybody enjoyed the play.

The baccalaureate service was held at the Methodist church Sunday, sermon by Rev. Taylor of Uvalde. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion and every seat in the building was occupied.

Musical recital and operetta will be held during the week and on Friday night will be the closing exercises. Prof. Barron of Pearsall will be the speaker for the occasion. Diplomas will be presented the graduates who have proved themselves worthy of them, during their past four years in high school.

Rev. and Mrs. Rogers attended the District Conference at Laredo the early part of last week and also Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Newton.

A little eight-month-old babe of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hardt died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gronewald last Monday and was tenderly laid away in the cemetery Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Rogers conducting the ceremonies in a very impressive and consoling manner. We extend our sympathy to the family in their bereavement.

The infant of Mr. Hardt's sister, Pearl, is also very seriously ill at the Mechler Hospital in Hondo, under the care of Dr. Smith and nurses. We hope that she will soon recover and can be brought back home.

Prof. and Mrs. Roensch have not been able to leave the hospital in San Antonio on account of their little daughter's condition. The little child has been in a precarious condition for two weeks, and convalescence will be slow on account of her weak condition.

Mrs. Margie Blackaller and daughters, and Mrs. Preston Nixon of Pearsall attended the Baccalaureate sermon here Sunday and incidentally

INVESTIGATING TRADES DAY ACTIVITIES.

At the recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the local Chamber of Commerce, a committee was appointed to study "Trades Day" methods and decide whether Devine shall have regular trades day. Messrs. H. D. Talley, W. E. Russell and J. T. Lilly went over to Hondo Wednesday afternoon to attend their Trades Day and get all the information possible. They found only half day taken over there in the afternoon, found lots of people in town, and good results. They may visit Sabinal soon on a similar mission.

Reduce the Acid

SICK stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips Milk of Magnesia; one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. For 50 years the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia, the kind physicians have prescribed for 50 years.

THE LEGISLATIVE MILL

By Fred W. Davis.

Week Ending May 23, 1931.
With many a creak and groan, sometimes choked almost beyond capacity and at other times idle because of long heated debates as to what should enter the hopper, the legislative mill came to a final halt Saturday noon after repeated efforts had been made to extend its operation.
The question of extension of time for recessing for thirty days was typical of most political controversies in that it was fought behind a smoke screen. The burden of most of the speeches in behalf of a thirty day recess was to economize by saving mileage and per diem of an extra session. The burden of the arguments for adjournment were the necessity of clearing the calendar and coming back to work on such important matters as the governor should see fit to submit. Also, the legislature could not make progress on the old controversial bills were to be before them when they returned. The question of extending all matters on both sides was whether to keep alive the road bond issue, oil production, utility control, etc., with road bonds the most important. As we have stated before this has overshadowed any other question of this session.
The house in votes which referred road bonds indirectly usually voted against the cause of bonds, but where they voted directly would vote for the bonds almost strong enough to submit them. Consequently when the question of a short extension of time was put before the house the members would not agree to any extension unless promise was given that the bond amendment would not be brought up again.
To a layman and observer, it looks like a short continuance of time to be given solely to such legislation as the budget and the necessary revenues to sustain it was the same thing to do. 'Tis true the argument was put up that this should have been done without the necessity of extension of time. But the members are facing a condition which had been worked out sooner or later.
That the question of economy as shown for a recess could not hold and was not the real cause for the efforts is proven by the fact that the people would have lost rather than gained if recess had been taken and it is further proven by the fact that some of the leaders in the recess movement after it lost would agree to remain five more days in an effort to avoid an extra session. The resolution called for a recess about pay but the constitution allows pay and that part of the resolution was worthless. Hence to recess for days and reconvene for thirty days would have amounted to the same per diem as an extra session of thirty days. There remains the difference of about $20,000.00 to cover mileage of an extra session. But recess had been taken the legal adjournment of the legislature would have been postponed for thirty days. This sixty days postponement would, according to estimate on new revenue measures, lost the state about $700,000.00 on an estimated revenue of more than $4,000,000.00 a year to be collected under the new revenue laws. Therefore a recess would have cost a bit of money in the loss of revenue.

As was predicted early in this session, the budget has not been reduced, but slightly increased. The new revenues seem to be something near the anticipated deficit. There is, therefore, no hope for any reduction of state ad valorem taxes and there may be an increase.
The legislature seems certain there will be a called session soon. This governor has intimated in two recent messages. But of course all called sessions act only upon a program submitted by the governor. If he vetoes the budget of course one question will be appropriations. Oil proration is believed to be another question. Besides these some revenue raising questions and probably utilities.
If the budget is merely trimmed and accepted there will likely be no called session until the oil conservation problem is more definitely settled—probably next fall. All constitutional amendments that failed will have to wait two years.
Road bond proponents have already advanced their cause to a prominent political position in the next election. This is as it should be. The people should require each member to state his stand definitely and then expect him to carry out his views if elected. If the people elect enough members committed to a bond issue to submit it then it should be submitted. But the question should not go over the next election by default.
I cannot at this time, give a fair summary of the outcome of this legislative session. Will have to do this in the next and last issue of this column.

COLONIAL COVERINGS.

"Iron Man," starring Lew Ayres, will be the next attraction for Saturday at the Colonial Theatre according to an announcement made by Manager R. L. Jennings. This Universal film is considered one of the strong pictures of the season. It is a great love story from the pen of W. R. Burnett, who is also the author of "Little Caesar." "Iron Man" tells the story of the rise and fall of a prize-fighter. It is a powerful story, rooted deeply in American life, and with a passionate, if unusual, love theme. It is a stirring love story of the prize ring, with Jean Harlow, Robert Armstrong, Eddie Dillon and John Miljan in the cast. Tod Browning directed.

Buster Keaton of the frozen countenance cavorts through a comedy of errors in which too many sweethearts, a jealous husband with a gun, a policeman and a bawdy auto figure in a rip-roaring series of trials and tribulations. It all happens in "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," his new M. G. M. comedy which will open Sunday at the Colonial Theatre. The unusually prominent supporting cast is augmented by the presence of Charlotte Greenwood, Reginald Denry, Cliff Edwards and Edward Brophy, Dorothy Christy, Joan Peers, Sally Eilers and Natalie Moorhead.

That love, sooner or later, will catch up with you, is the theme which is woven through the engrossing story of "Daybreak," the new Ramon Novarro M. G. M. vehicle, which opens at the Colonial Theatre Thursday night for a two days engagement. Novarro, as the Viennese Lieutenant, Willi Kasda, is seen in a role quite different from the Spanish lovers of his two most recent pictures, "In Gay Madrid" and "Call of the Flesh." He is an up-to-date love adventurer, with so many conquests that he has come to think of love as merely a game, not at all to be taken seriously. But one night he meets Laura, played by the talented Helen Chandler. He succumbs, and lets himself in for a train of circumstances which lead to the very gates of tragedy. Supporting roles are ably played by Jean Hersholt, C. Aubrey Smith, William Bakewell, Karen Morley, Kent Douglass, Glenn Tryon and Clyde Cook.

Steady Power In The Belt Makes Big Jobs Fly

The new day tractor for new way farmers is put to many uses. For belt work the 18-28 Oliver Hart-Parr has the power reserve to carry over the tough spots. The four cylinder, valve-in-head, upright motor is pressure lubricated to all main, connecting rod, piston pin and rocker-arm bearings. Crankshaft and connecting rods are drilled. The 18-28 is powerful when it is new and it stays powerful because of the way it is built.

With your 18-28 Oliver Hart-Parr Tractor you have the advantage of a "dead belt pulley" when you back into the belt. The pulley is conveniently located on the right side of the machine.

The governor, so important on belt jobs, is of the centrifugal type, is fully enclosed and automatically lubricated.

Balanced power is built into the Oliver Hart-Parr 18-28. Visit us and see for yourself.

A sign of old age is looking behind,
Of reviving old methods of every kind,
Of believing the world will go on the rocks
Unless children mind and wear different frocks;
But the fact really is the world's moving on;
As it always has done since earliest dawn;
And the way of keeping young is to keep in the race,
And to move with its progress, not backward face

TIMBERLAKE-HOLLOWAY.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom B. Holloway announce the marriage of their daughter, Janice, to Mr. William Travis Timberlake of Uvalde, the wedding having taken place at the home of the bride's parents Friday afternoon, May 22, at four thirty o'clock, in the presence of the bride's immediate family and of near relatives.

Simplicity was the keynote of loveliness, the reception hall and the living room simply but beautifully decorated with cut flowers and fern. There were no attendants. Rev. P. E. Lancaster, pastor of the local M. E. church read the impressive marriage vows. The bride wore a striking ensemble of beige with pink accessories and carried a lovely bridal bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas.

An informal reception was held following the ceremony, at which time the bride's cake was cut and refreshments of punch and cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Timberlake then departed for San Antonio, the following day leaving for Mexico for a bridal trip of several week's duration, after which they will be at home in Uvalde.

The bride is the older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Holloway and is one of Hondo's fairest and most popular young ladies. Mr. Timberlake is employed in Uvalde where he has many friends. The entire community wishes them happiness and success in their future life.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES THIRTY-THREE

The Commencement Exercises for the Senior Class of 1931 took place Friday evening, May 22, at the high school auditorium, with a personnel of thirty-three graduates, one of the largest classes ever to be graduated from Hondo High School. A record audience was in attendance.

As the Processional was played the graduates took their places on the stage, followed by the members of the school board.

Miss Elizabeth Holloway, in her salutatory address, welcomed the assembly to the graduation exercises. Miss Holloway is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Holloway, and had the honor of being salutatorian of her class.

A cornet solo was rendered by Jack Droicourt, Jr., accompanied on the piano by Miss Frances Finger. Both young people were graduates.

The valedictory address, given in a very pleasing manner, was delivered by Miss Luella Wiemers, honor graduate of the class, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wiemers. Miss Wiemers, as high point girl, was the recipient of a number of scholarships which enable her to choose a college education from any one of the best schools of Texas.

A male quartet, composed of George Isaac Wilson, Jack Droicourt, Jr., Lawrence Rothe and B. C. Rack-er rendered several delightful songs. The young men were Seniors and members of the Boys' Glee Club.

The speaker of the evening, Hon. Merton L. Harris, attorney, poet and writer of Smithville, Texas, was introduced by Superintendent J. G. Barry. Mr. Harris, in his impressive manner, endeavored to impress upon the minds of the graduates the need of work and perseverance to attain the goal of success, leaving with them many fine truths upon which to think.

Bradley Bailey, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bailey, as high point boy, was presented scholarships to almost every school in the state from which he may choose one to enter this fall.

The exercises were brought to a close on the presentation of the diplomas by Dr. H. J. Meyer, President of the Board of Trustees, who preceded the occasion with a few well-chosen words on the general health conditions of the students.

The Medina County Rural Schools will have their seventh grade graduation exercises at the Hondo High School Auditorium, Saturday, May 30, at 1:30 P. M. Eighteen schools will participate in these exercises and are represented by a student body of ninety graduates, most of whom will continue their courses in the rural high schools or transfer to an affiliated school and pursue their work for four more years. With the present means of transportation and fairly good roads, parents should take advantage of the opportunity of giving their children at least a high school education.

The program arranged for the exercises consists of selections in music by artists who have had much experience in their chosen profession, and the speakers are men of unusual training in the fields of educational endeavor.

The county educational department is expecting a large audience of parents, trustees, teachers and friends of the schools of the county. This should be a "red letter day" for those interested in the welfare of the children who shall take the reins of government of the tomorrow in their hands, and a revelation to those parents and citizens who oppose better schools in their communities, and the parents and trustees are urged to make it a point to be present for this occasion.

COMRADES RENEW TIES OF FRIENDSHIP.

Major A. M. Lamm, one of the surviving veterans of the Civil War, handed us a copy of the Union Herald published at Union Springs, Alabama, from which point joined the Confederate army in 1862.

As far as the Major knows, he is the last survivor of his company. A few members of his regiment, men who served in other companies, are still living and they are trying to keep in touch with each other and hope to meet at the reunion at Montgomery on June 2.

Major Lamm is much disappointed he can not be with them on that day.

Under the caption at the head of the article, the Union Springs Herald May 21 carried the following interesting mention:

"The time for the Confederate Reunion draws near. 'Old Soldiers' as they are lovingly termed, from the South are bringing to the comrades of the stirring days of the '60's, and many letters are being mailed to buddies bearing the message: 'Meet me in Montgomery, June 2.'"

Major B. T. Eley, who has been in touch with Bullock County, received a copy of the Weekly Farm News of Dallas, Texas, sent him by A. M. Lamm of Texas, which contained an article from John F. Ellis, in which stated that he enlisted in the Confederate service at Union Springs. Ellis was 88 years of age and unable to give many dates, but stated that his captain was "Captain Eley."

Eley wrote Mr. Lamm and also a letter to the Farm News, which was published in the Pioneer and Veteran column. Replying to these communications, Mr. Eley has learned that his old comrade is in the Confederate Soldiers Home at Austin, Texas, and has written to Mr. Ellis asking him, if possible, to come to the reunion.

Another interesting contact made by letter published in the Farm News, was a letter from G. W. Dick, Texas, asking if he remembered his father, M. W. Dick. Eley, in replying, stated, "Yes, I remember your father and mother quite well. In the year 1862, your father, M. W. Dick, was in business here and I state, he was familiarly known as 'White Dick.'"

In April, 1862, he, Eley, was with nearly 100 others, enlisted in the Confederate Service as Captain J. W. D. Jinks, and the Third Alabama Regiment, commanded by Colonel Lomax. Eley's company had been named "The Eagles," and became Co. L in the 3rd Ala. It gives pleasure to Eley that your father was a true and full soldier, performing his every duty although he was not as vigorous and robust as some of us who were younger and more capable of withstanding the hardships of war."

At a reunion! And how many days, sacred to the thinning of Gray approach, that they too this heritage and are proud to tell the sons and daughters of men of the '60's.

It is only one of the many incidents that the approaching Reunion, and each day, as the season, that perhaps this may be the last Reunion sinks into one's plans are being made by number of our people to attend some of the event.

It will perhaps be the most full day, for on this day the Parade will be staged, in every section of the South will be presented.

NEW HOSPITAL TO OPEN.

The managers of the New Medina Hospital announce that they will hold open house Thursday afternoon, June 4, 1931, from the hours 2:00 to 6:30 P. M., at which time everyone is invited to call and inspect the recently completed building.

This beautiful, modern new structure is located on the southwest side of Hondo, between the Joe Bader and Charles Monkhouse residences, in a quiet neighborhood, suitable to a hospital zone. The building itself is of stucco, with the entrance fronting north. A clever and attractive decorative note is achieved on the exterior.

The interior of the hospital is arranged for efficiency and comfort. The front entrance hall has been fitted into an office and place of registration for the patients. Just off the office on the west side is a small bedroom allotted to emergency and transitory cases. The northeast and southeast wing of the building has been designed for patient's rooms, six in number, well ventilated, restful, delightful sick rooms, with all modern conveniences.

The west wing of the building has been devoted to nurses' quarters and operating room with necessary compartments. A room and bath have been furnished for an extra nurse or nurses if such a contingency should arise. Large linen presses and lavatories are placed advantageously about the building. The kitchen is arranged for time saving and cleanliness, with built-in fixtures and every modern facility.

The operating room is located on the northwest corner, and has every advantage of natural lighting. It is also well supplied with electric light sockets for every possible electrical need. Just off the surgery room are smaller rooms used as a medical dispensary and solution room, sterilizing room and doctors' dressing room. The entire interior is painted cream color, with wide spacious halls and many windows to insure light, ventilation and an immaculate appearance.

Mrs. Alice Bertriver and Mrs. Mary H. Cook, owners and managers, are both registered nurses with many years of experience in the nursing field to their credit and therefore are well prepared to carry on so responsible an undertaking. Elsewhere in this paper the business people of Hondo congratulate them on their modern new hospital and wish them success in their enterprise.

BAPTIST NEWS NOTES.

The Sunday school attendance held up fine on last Sunday. Let us make the most of this important teaching service. A knowledge of the Bible implanted early in the heart of the child will be of priceless worth in later years. We missed the presence of many of the young folks at the night hour. It is to be hoped that the young people will understand how much their presence and co-operation is desired and appreciated. Moreover, it is in the early days of one's life that steady religious habits should be formed. All mere superstition is to be dismissed in the matter of religion, but, a keep understanding and intelligent appreciation of Bible teaching, as furnishing the true philosophy of life, is to be heartily accepted and practiced.

On Next Sunday morning, the Pastor will preach a sermon on the true significance of the Lord's Supper. Why was it given to the churches, and what does it teach. It is desired that a full attendance of the membership may be had; especially is it desired that all of our young members shall be present. No superstition, no mystery is found here.

The Pastor is giving some very interesting discussions of the books of the Old Testament, as the mid-week prayer meetings. This service too, is varied by the use of song and personal testimonies. Come and add your presence and participate in these meetings.

On Monday night, the fifteenth of June, we are to have displayed in the church house, a painting of our Lord on his way to Calvary, surrounded by those who accused him, and by the soldiers who put him to death. Dr. Rembrandt, the painter of this wonderful work of art, will be present and will lecture on the impressive scene, and explain the whole story of the Greatest Tragedy in History. You are invited to attend. It is open to everybody. No charge for admission. A free will offering will be permitted at the close. If you want to be spiritually blessed, come. All non-church members, in particular, are urged to see this picture.

CASE BEAUTY PARLOR

From the Owl.

I have always had good ears. Dear Reader, I know you will sit up and take notice at that remark, but, such as it is, it is the cause for the writing of this story. It was for this reason that I sat at the long nook, instead of taking a table, when I went into a restaurant to eat. I enjoyed listening to the conversations of people and so I sat rather close to two women who were chatting very amiably.

"Yes, my dear, the trip was simply grand, and honey, you'll never guess whom we met!"

The speaker was a woman of thirty years, perhaps. She was very stunningly dressed and from this I gathered that her trip was to Paris.

"Why, no I couldn't ever guess. Tell me, whom did you meet?"

The second member of the party was slightly older than the first. I would say that she was thirty-five years of age. She, too, was well dressed and was very beautiful.

"My dear,"—here an outburst of titters bade fair to choke the speaker, but she recovered sufficiently to continue her story, as all women do—"it was Susan Caterhill." The other woman lifted her eyebrows and drew herself up in that silly gesture with which women feign surprise. "Yes," at the other's questioning look, "she's at some designer's place. She's very successful and with her store-bought beauty and money, she's very happy, especially since she met her man."

"What, Susan Cinderella Sanapest Caterhill in love? Oh, my dear, this is just too funny; He he ha ha ha ha! Well, he must be awful."

"Oh, no, he's very handsome. Tall and blonde—broad shoulders—a wonderful build. A nose that a Roman God would have been proud to show. His eyes remind one of a murky and mysterious pool. That's one of his most outstanding attractions. Ann, his mysterious eyes, or rather, I should say eye. You see, Ann, he always wears a black monocle. That's the only thing that mars his appearance. It makes him much too mysterious and for a man, that's not so good."

Of course, the other lady pretended to be surprised. Her friend had wanted her to be. She knew her etiquette, that lady did! "A black monocle? Well, I never!"

"Yes," eagerly, "and Susan and I were talking one day, when he came up. Ann, he has the manners of a court gentleman. I was very agreeably surprised. I told her so but I criticized his wearing the black monocle."

"Oh," she said, "you are only jealous."

"Oh, no, I'm not, Susan."

"Well, anyway, you and Jim come over to dinner tomorrow night."

"That was our first meeting, and the second would have been equally as pleasant if Jim had only kept his mouth shut. Oh, if he hadn't made that awful remark."

"I know how you feel, Mary, dear, but come, you didn't tell me his name."

"Oh, didn't I? Pardon me, Ann, dear, I forgot. You see, Jim had known him in Springfield, before the war. That was what was so surprising. That was why Jim made that awful blunder. Oh, I turn sick everytime I think of it."

"But really, that's not telling me his name. You know, I've had social breeding but this curiosity heaving in my bosom will make me turn savage if you don't tell me."

"Oh, his name is Bob Ganet."

"Bob Ganet. Not the Pennsylvania Ganets, is it?"

"Oh, no, no. Bob would never have known him if he had been from that family."

Local gossip now interested the two and it was some minutes later that they returned to the subject dear to my curiosity.

"Yes, she acted very peculiarly when Jim said that, but you know, Ann, one never could phase a Caterhill."

"I know it. You know, Mary, I think Jim should have inquired a little and found out just how the man stood before he started talking about him."

"Absolutely, and you know, Susan's and my families were always good friends. If Jim just hadn't said that, I think we'd better be going."

It was here that I forgot all the principles of etiquette I had learned at my mother's knee.

"I know I deserve to be burned at the guillotine or something worse, please, tell me, what did Jim say?"

"You deserve nothing of the sort and I'll gladly tell you."

"Well—please hurry."

"My dear, all Jim said was, 'Why everybody knows old cross-eyed Bob.'"

To the man who himself strives earnestly God also lends a helping hand.—Aeschylus.

The Bravest Battle

The bravest battle that ever was fought!

Shall I tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world you will find it not;
'Twas fought by the mothers of men.

Nay, not with cannon or battle-shot,
With a sword or noble pen;
Nay, not with eloquent words or thought
From mouths of wonderful men!

But deep in a walled-up woman's heart—
Of a woman who would not yield,
But bravely, silently bore her part—
Lo, there is that battlefield!

No marshaling troops, no bivouac song,
No banner to gleam and wave;
But oh! these battles, they last so long—
From babyhood to the grave.

Yet, faithful still as a bridge of stars,
She fights in her walled-up town—
Fights on and on in the endless wars,
Then, silent, unseen, goes down.

Oh, ye with banners and battle-shot,
And soldiers to shout and praise!
I tell you the kingliest victories fought
Were fought in those silent ways.

Oh, spotless woman in a world of shame,
With splendid and silent scorn,
Go back to God as white as you came—
The kingliest warrior born!

—Joaquin Miller.

Better Breakfasts

IT will be much easier to do all of those worthy things you resolved to do this happy New Year if you start the day right. No, we don't refer to morning hymns or daily devotions, but something very easy and pleasant to do—eat a better breakfast.

"Easy enough to eat," says the housewife, "but not so easy to prepare in limited time." That sounds like a good argument, but as a matter of fact, it isn't. For example, here is a delicious breakfast which can be prepared, for the most part, the evening before—while the dinner dishes are being washed.

Prepare the cocktail and put it away in the refrigerator, ready for a quick shake tomorrow morning; partially cook the cereal in a double boiler, ready for a quick finish. This leaves only the coffee to percolate, the eggs to cook and, as for the cinnamon rolls, they can be baked, made, if you like, and heated piping hot.

Menu

Snappy Winter Cocktail
Cream of Wheat with Dates
Soft-Cooked Eggs
Quick Cinnamon Rolls
Hot Beverage

Snappy Winter Cocktail: Shake together the following ingredients—two 3-ounce cans of tomato juice, two tablespoons lemon juice, one teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon Tabasco sauce, one-eighth teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Let stand in the ice-box over night and shake again just before serving. This serves six persons.*

FOR THE BEEKEEPER

FILLING FOR CAKE

The following is good for cake filling, and makes nice sandwiches, or may be used as sauce for pudding. It is also fine by leaving out lemon and egg for hot cakes, waffles, or toast softened with little milk or cream.
1 cup honey
1 heaping tablespoonful butter
1 teaspoonful lemon juice
White of one egg
Beat the eggs very light, add butter; add honey, beat again; then lemon last. Beat hard as you add each ingredient.

Although but a few Colonies were left alive in most Apiaries, nature is recuperating itself, and in consequence we have more swarming than we had for many years, and if our white honey producing plants will persist in blooming during long continued wet spells, we can hope for a heavy honey crop.

The writer is kept very busy at present, the middle of April, to provide storing room, by tying up supers of comb foundation, and also by keeping down the weeds in front of the hive entrances. Also, enlarging the entrances to the strong hives, so the bees can fly into the hives, tends to retard swarming to some extent.

A writer in George Park's California Bee paper is using a large pane of glass in the hive bottoms and claims a wonderful increase in the building up of bees into strong colonies and also in the subsequent production of honey. I have not yet tried the scheme, but being still young, I may yet fix up a few such glass bottoms and put same under some hives. Light appears to have an effect on most any insect life.

The American Honey Producers League, composed of thirty American Beemen's Associations and a lot of individual members who all contribute to a fund for National Advertising of honey as a food, mailed me the March-April issue of their house Journal, "The American Honey Producer." It is brimfull of valuable information, and their leaders keep a watchful eye on the Corn Products People who have received a permit from the U. S. Department of Agriculture to use Corn Sugar in preparations without declaring the fact on the label. In fact, a permit of a public Official of the United States to defraud the people.

A statement of Dr. Bunting in Edinburgh Medical Journal, January, 1929, Banting F. G. is applicable to our country as follows: In the United States the incidence of diabetes has increased proportionately with the per capita consumption of cane sugar. One cannot but conclude that in the heating and recrystallization of the natural sugar cane something is altered which leaves the refined product a dangerous food stuff.

It would seem then that it is our responsibility, if we are to improve the health of the nation, to encourage the use of honey, the natural sugar. Who is in better position to give out this information than our doctors, nurses, dietitians and public health workers?

The American Honey Institute will provide you with recipes and suggestions so that your patients will know how to use honey most effectively, economically and successfully.

November 8 to 14, 1931, has been set aside as American honey week. Watch your bee journals for suggestions for National Honey Week.

Good white honey is being extracted and sold, and even comb honey is being sealed over, that had been gathered from the black persimmon flowers. We had extracted and sold this honey before any Huajilla brush or cat's claw bloomed this year.

But lately the Huajilla started blooming and soon, Mr. J. K. Hill will be getting what he calls "water-white woe-here" and my good friend Victor at Uvalde will have plenty of his "war-here honey" while Prof. E. G. LeSturgeon and his scholars will be selling "Guajillo Honey" even if the nearest Huajilla brush would be 1,000 miles away.

Having honey coming in quite rapidly I have taken pains to tell the wide world about it, and most assuredly I sell wherever and whenever I can and of course for cash, for a bird in the hand beats two in the bush. Most every beeman has a bunch of friends and some even have relatives who are able to eat and digest honey, most of them get fond of it, and bragging on the goodness of the same causes others to get interested, and become customers forever.

A writer in Beekeeper's Item takes the trouble to inform the world that hard times are not a result of prohibition. Perhaps not, but it is easy on the peoples' purses to make weekly excursions into foreign countries in a vain attempt to get something superior than our home-made product?

Ernest Parker says in the Item that he knows a man who purchased an 8-pound can of pure lard, but when his wife opened the can she found a mixture of honey bees, bee-comb and a small amount of honey, and the grocery man got things bungled up. Put up a good clean white comb honey and have the cans properly labeled and guarantee its contents. I do all of the above, and have never yet had a man bring me a can of lard bearing my label.

Elton Cornelius of Michigan says that a new-comer has come to his family to stay and being the first he was very much appreciated by his family. A public health nurse advised to sweeten its drinking water with corn syrup, etc.
Mr. Cornelius asked whether honey would not do and says the nurse looked really frightened and said that she did not know what honey would do under such conditions. If the Health Department is cajoled by the Corn Products people to advertise the use of corn syrup, it is about time to get in behind the American Honey Institute, and teach the Health Department the food value of honey.

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

WITH so many women taking over practically the whole responsibility of handling the family income, sound home-banking methods are of increasing importance to homemakers. An inexpensive mechanical device that prevents checks from being raised or altered is a sound investment for the woman in the home.

To beat egg whites quickly add a pinch of cream of tartar before starting to beat. The eggs will froth more quickly and hold their shape a longer time.

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

THESE days when a rigidly economical home menu is frequently a necessity, how to assure maximum health and food value at the least cost is an important problem. A greater use of cereal foods as lunch and supper dishes, as well as for breakfast, is one way to solve it. A dish of cornflakes and cream provides about one and a half times the food value of a serving of sirloin steak, at a fraction of the cost.

Rubbing the edge of the saucepan with butter is a good way to prevent milk from boiling over.

THE LEA BEATY PLAN.

If the farmer is going to sow two acres broadcast of cane or higuera, expecting to get two crops—one in July and another in October, plant four acres and get a July crop cheaper and better cured.

When second crop is about ready to cut in October, don't cut it. Over half the fall crop is ruined by rain and is little account. Sow three or four bushels of oats to the acre over this sorghum, turn it all under. At the proper time turn stock on the oats. In the spring take the stock off and let the oats get 4 to 6 inches high, turn it under and improve your land instead of killing the land by cutting two crops from it. One crop of cane is hard on land, two crops are worse.

Having chosen a color scheme of green and white in the appointments and brilliant-hued sweet peas as the keynote, the hostesses led the guests into the reception rooms, where baskets and vases of the lovely blossoms had been placed at vantage places.

Tallies and score pads were in the same colors with the bride tricer, and each guest found a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and fern at her bridge table.

NEY-ROTHE.

A beautiful wedding was solemnized Tuesday, May 26, at 8 A. M. in the Holy Cross Catholic Church when Miss Agnes Rothe, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Emma Rothe became the bride of Herman J. Ney, son of Mrs. Theresa Ney. The impressive ceremony was read by Very Rev. Dean F. Maas, who also officiated at the Solemn High Mass which followed.

Floor baskets containing bouquets of sweet peas and fern, and tied with fluffy tulle bows in pastel tones, lined the aisle on either side. The candle-lighted altars and sanctuary were further beautified with ferns and flowers.

The wedding party entered to the strains of the Bridal March from "Lohengrin," played on the organ by Miss Josie Rothe. The groomsmen, Henry Vogel and Lawrence Rothe, preceded the bridesmaids in the following order: Miss Cornelia Koch in orchid, Miss Frances Finger in pale pink, and Miss Agnes Ney, maid of honor, in yellow; all wore ankle-length gowns with hair-braid hats to match, and carried arm bouquets of pink gladioli and fern. Little Miss Rose Marie Finger, dainty in a ruffled frock of pink was the flower girl, while little Joe William Rothe, in black velvet, was train-bearer. The petite bride, who entered with her brother, Mr. Eric Rothe, was met at the rail, by the groom and his best man, Marshall Ney. She was attired in a gown of white georgette and lace, her veil of tulle and lace was fitted to a lace cap finished with rosettes of pearls and orange blossoms on either side, and a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies-of-the-valley was carried.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the ranch home of the bride's mother, where a sumptuous feast was served to the bridal party and several other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ney departed later in the day for a brief trip to Galveston. On their return they will continue to make D'Hanis their home.

Respectfully,
MRS. REILY CARLE,

The bridesmaid, Miss Bernice Carle, wore a charming model of dark rose and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Lucy Rothe played the wedding march for the bridal party and the choir sang during the ceremony.

Immediately following the ceremony a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Finger, for the bridal party and the immediate family of the bride and groom.
